About this booklet

This booklet has been produced to support mathematics teachers delivering the new International GCSE in English Language (Specification B).

The booklet looks at questions from the Sample Assessment Materials, and some relevant questions from past papers. It shows real student responses to these questions, and how the examining team follow the mark scheme to demonstrate how the students would be awarded marks on these questions.

How to use this booklet

Our examining team have selected student responses to all 11 questions. Following each question you will find the mark scheme for that question and then a range of student responses with accompanying examiner comments on how the mark scheme has been applied and the marks awarded, and on common errors for this sort of question.

3 Explain how the writer presents his impressions of New York.

You should support your answer with close reference to the passage, including brief quotations.

The writer finds it strongewhen people walk and don't care what other Think about them. They For example "It's also amozing how people just do not care who hears their conversations". This way the writer represents the character of the city by describing the personality that eives of people that live in New York. It talls us his impressions but also tell us about the city

Also the writer uses descriptive detail to hetpfor #s example "a few big jeeps, a couple of strech limousines". This helps us to create an image as well as understand how the streets of New York city are full of cars. He wants us to see what he sees

In addition the writer uses advance adverbs to shows his impressions for example "The views when circuing the city and coming in to land at JFK airport are spectricular". This mates us understand how impressed he is from the views of New York sity before even anticipate going in the center. This show as how amozing New work is.

Also the writer shows the character op talk about the services of New York. For example: There was little to do except wait. This way the writer shows us how good the services are and that they listen to your demands immediately. Something else I noticed is that the writer tall us about the architecture. For example "The view from the living room was certainly not quite what I was used to being 89 floors up as opposed to one". This shave us that the Bluiklings are very high, where a lot of efford was needed.

6/10

Examiner Comments

This is a Level 3 response to the question on the writer's impression of New York, as it demonstrates clear understanding and has appropriate examples. The comments are not sufficiently developed to move it into Level 4, for which a closer analysis of language and structure would be required.

This is a response meriting a mark in Level 2, as some relevant comment on language is offered and there are valid references. To have moved the mark beyond Level 2, it would have been necessary to give a fuller analysis of the way in which effects are achieved to describe thoughts and feelings: there is perhaps over-reliance on sentence length, whether short or long.

There is an attempt at content-based comparison and relevant references are made. This therefore deserves a mark in Level 2, even if it is not a complete response. To improve the quality of this response, for which 15 marks are available, a fuller exploration of the different ways in which the two writers convey their experiences, set out in a comparative way, would have been required.

Examiner Comments

There is a clear attempt at comparison but it is undeveloped. The suggestion that the two passages have different purposes is a worthwhile one, and there is an attempt to show differences in tone and descriptive techniques, though this would have needed to be more fully amplified for a higher Level mark.

AO4 – The candidate's discussion of whether it is better to travel than to arrive contains some reasonable ideas, but these are not always very strongly argued and would benefit from stronger development.

AO5 – The writing contains some accurate spelling and punctuation. However, these are accompanied by some errors of grammar and examples of unclear expression, which mean that the ambitious and thoughtful ideas do not always come across as effectively as they might.

AO4 – Although the writing becomes more narrative than descriptive, there is a reasonably clear and effective sense of the importance of the place selected because of the impression it had made on the writer.

AO5 – The candidate has produced a response which is mostly accurate, but with some slips.
